About Webinar on E-waste Management

With the usage of Electrical and Electronic Equipment's (EEE) on the rise, the amount of Electrical and Electronic wastes (E-Wastes) produced each day is equally growing enormously around the globe. The growing amount of E-Wastes does not only pose environmental issues but is also a source of precious metals. Recycling of valuable elements contained in E-Waste such as Copper and Gold has become a source of income mostly in the informal sector of developing or emerging industrialized countries. However, primitive recycling techniques such as burning cables for retaining the inherent copper expose both adult and child workers as well as their families to a range of hazardous substances. Since E-Waste consists of items of economic value and poses environmental & health risks, it needs to be managed in an environmentally sound manner.

Shri.Rajendra Dahatonde

Dr.Hedgewar Seva Samiti Krushi Vigyan Kendra, Nandurbar

Nowadays, E-waste management is one of the most important topic. It is a need of today for E-waste management, collection, recycling and reuse. He told about the e-waste management through the scientific methods and parameters. Waste management awareness programme should be organized in regular time for awareness among the society. It is duty or responsibility of the peoples for manages the electronic waste and collection for recycling and reuse.

Session Speaker: Ar.Nahida Shaikh, Greenvio Solution, Mumbai

Speaker said about the E-waste, waste management and types of waste. Classification of Harmful waste means hazardous and non-hazardous waste. Hazardous waste comes under radioactive waste, industrial waste, medical waste and electronic waste. A type of Electronic waste means computer, mobiles, printer and other electronic equipment.

Impact of health: E-waste connected health risks may result from direct contact with harmful material such as lead, cadmium, chromium, brominates frame etc. can give the rise to the number of toxic by products likely to the affect of human health.

Classified of e-waste into sub-division like temperature equipment (refrigerator, AC etc.), Screens (Laptop Tablet etc.), LED lamps etc., Large equipments (Washing Machine, electric stoves etc., Small equipments (Microwaves, vacuum cleaner etc.),

According to weee.forum.org:

Only 17.4 percent of electronic waste containing a mixture of harmful substances and precious materials will be recorded being as properly collected, treated and recycled.

So that follows the circular chain of electronic waste that is manufacture, purchase, use, end of life and again recycle and reuse.
